A DEMOCRATIC MERGING.
They belly Thines.

It will take only the incleanients from the other two parties, and then act in numbers strong enough to gain even the haloance of power. If it is to be merged into the Democratic party, the people will understand that it is still the same all ocon, and that this is the last and most halicrous of its tricks. It will draw no one from the Republican party who is theretaily and devotedly attached to the principles for which it was organized and which it has vindicated with such heroic consistence and bancies along.

THE CONVENTION AN ENEMY OF UNION.

Express, Albury

The Democratic party, then, will no its own way, but it will take this bunting in tow, since it has so little steam of its own. It will bely fight the Union party, or at least be a sort of cotton bag bulwark against its ire.

At the head of the last stands the name of A. W. Randall, the has wen distinction as the author of the rule that "every name must sustain the President's policy who eats the bread and butter." MISCHIEF.

Excress, Albany, June 30.

The Randall-Doelittle party cannot hope to control a single Northern State at present. But it means to embarrass the controlling party to gain the South, and thus compel the Demouracy of the North to unite with it. The scheme is not so much for the present, though it has mischief to do now, as for two years hence.

Etnira Dally Advertiser, 30th.

As to its effect, it will neither make the Democratic party stronger nor the Union party weaker. Both will pursue the even tenor of their way, neither fearing or caring for the windy resolutions which we presume this National Johnson-Bandal Convention will adopt. Requireset in pace.

DECREPID.

Buffale Courier, 20th.

Not much is likely to come out of this Philadelphia Convension as acparate party organization. As has been well remarked a few decrepid peliticians, who have lost their grip on the confidence and votes of the masses, can not get together in a club room, and over their champagne and eigars, mark out the metes and bounds of a new party, and breathe into it the breath of life.

SORE-HEADS.

Albany Evening Journal, June 27.

We do not see in what essential respect the Philadelphia Convention will differ from that of the sore-heads at Cleveland, so far as it affects the political standing of these who engage in the movement. It is originated by the small milnority of a party. It is intended to advance the views and promote the interests of a faction. If it accomplishes any result whatever, it must be unfavorable to the Union organization. Considerations such as these, palpable upon the face of affairs, will keep tree men away from the Convention, and reduce its numerical and intellectual standard to a very low rate.

Doogs.

And intellectual standard to a very low rate.

DOGS.

Syracose (N. Y.) Journal, 29.

The time is a happy one. None more appropriate than the dog-days could be sciootred, for it is expected that the leaders of the new movement will be those who adhere to the apostate Executive with a dielity as marked as that which characterises the canine race. Tray, Blanche, and Sweetheart—the terrier and the spanial, the watchdog and the lapdog—alike like to lick the hand that bestows the bread, and one of the chief Johnsonites has enunciated the doctrine that "every man who eats the Fresheart's bread and butter must sustain the Fresheart's policy."

COPPERV.

Brooklyn Union, 30th.

It is stated that an address to the people of the United States, favoring the Philadelphia Convention movement, is now being signed by the Democratic and Conservative Members of Congress. It is headed with the names of Senator Gathric and Representative Niblack. Republicans who are disposed to join the movement will hardly be flattered by this evidence of the intense coppery color of the banner under which they will have to march.

NO UNION MEN GOING.

We do not believe that even a respectable portion of the Union party will condescend to send delegates to this proposed convection. It is possible it may be largely attended by the Copperheads, but we do not know a single man in Fioga County, formerly recognized as a true Union man, who would be satisfied to be sent as a delegate to Philadelphia under existing circumstances.

The indorsement, lowever, may be taken as valid in one respect; it is an assurance that this so called National Union party has none of the qualities of the Union party of the war. It is such a National Union party as Vallandigham, and Voorhees, and Pendiston, and Milligan, and Bowles, and as every one who fought for the destruction of the Union, and who sided it by political treachery or secret conspiracy, can indorse. The character of the call will make no bact to this inforcement. It will require no change in the interpretation, but it will require a change in any one who foulfully strove to preserve it. Perhaps we waste our space to discussing the proposition laid down in this call as the bacts of agreement. Among out Union peoply we know of no Johnson entry, and it seems absurd to reason against an unknown quantity.

The UNION MUST AND SHALL RE PRESERVED.

THE UNION MUST AND SHALL BE PRESENTED.

Let us hope that thus proposed Convention will settle all difficulties among those who ready have the true interests at the country at heart, but differ as to minor matters—and let the disorganizers receive a lesson from the deliberations of the Convention than will convince them that patriots have determined that the Union must and shall be preserved.

At Last! At Last! Light is beauing once more—light from the rising san of liberty! The people—the people of all the States—North, South, East and West, are soon to be heard in an old-fashloned people's Convention.

MOST IMPORTANT EVENT OF THE TIMES.

Richmond Dispatch, June 27.

m an old-fashloned people's Concention.

MOST IMPOSTANT EVENT OF THE TIMES.

Richmond Dispatch, Jane 27.

We repeat that this Convention will be the most important event of our times, and will look more like union than anything that has happened since the war. Its influence upon the spirit of the nation is too plain not to arraws among the Radicals the most painful amilety as to its proceedings. From these, all true patriots must hope the most beneficent results. The Convention will meet the general approval of the nation, and we have not a doubt that its proceedings will be worthy of it. To dount it would be to doubt that general law of immanity which makes all true and loyal men rise with the emergency and acquit themselves with develon and honor.

POWERFUL MORAL EFFECT.

Should the South present inset in its true dignity and intelligence, in its true character of loyalty to the Constitution and the institutions and rights under it, there can be no done to the matter, and we cannot doubt that under the circumstances in walca we are placed, and with the important interests we have now at a task, that with one heart and mind they will go to work at once to discharge their duties as estimens in the best possible manner.

JACOBINS.

Richmond Whig. June 29.

Richmond Whig. Jure 29.

The South will assuredly give its heartiest good will to the convention, and, whetever the opportunity may occur, will cooperate with unanimous seal with the party that is struggling to defend the Constitution from the reachest violations and the runous innovations with which it has been assailed and threatened by the Jacobins of the majority, but to send formal delegations to occupy official seats in the proposed convention would, as it seems to us, unavoidably embarrars the convention in the action.

AURORAL

AURORAL.

Lynchlory Virginian, June 22.

Regarding this as the most important movement that has been usade on the political chess-board since the termination of the Wor, as one in which the interests and honor of the South are largely involved; one which we have been advocating for a year past, we half it as the aurors of that coming day which we have so much longed to see.
